

Managing Environmental Stress: Reducing Winter Injury to Golf Course Greens

UMassAmherst Outreach UMass
Extension

UMass Amherst Extension Turf Program

Winter injury to golf course greens continues to be a critical issue for golf course managers in many areas of the Northeast. This session will cover what we know about winter injury causes and prevention, preparing greens for the winter, and identifying, predicting and recovering from winter injury damage. An open discussion will be included. Join Dr. Michelle DaCosta, UMass Turf Physiologist, Dr. Geunhwa Jung, UMass Turf Pathologist, Jim Skorulski, USGA Agronomist and Chris Frielinghaus, CGCS, Superintendent at Glens Falls Country Club in Queensbury, NY.
